Dedication

It is difficult to put into a dedication message all the reasons for thanking an educator for what he has done in behalf of the school, its students and the community.

When Mr. George House joined the faculty in 1955 as an English and Citizenship instructor, it was apparent that he was destined to display his talents on a broader plane. He has since served James Lick in various capacities as a teacher, counselor, coach and administrator. In addition to his teaching duties, he was line coach of the 1956 SCVAL co-champion varsity football team. He took the position of vice principal in 1957, and his eminent success in that difficult post was marked by a firmness tempered with compassion. His abiding aim was to provide for teachers optimum conditions for teaching, and for students the best atmosphere for learning.

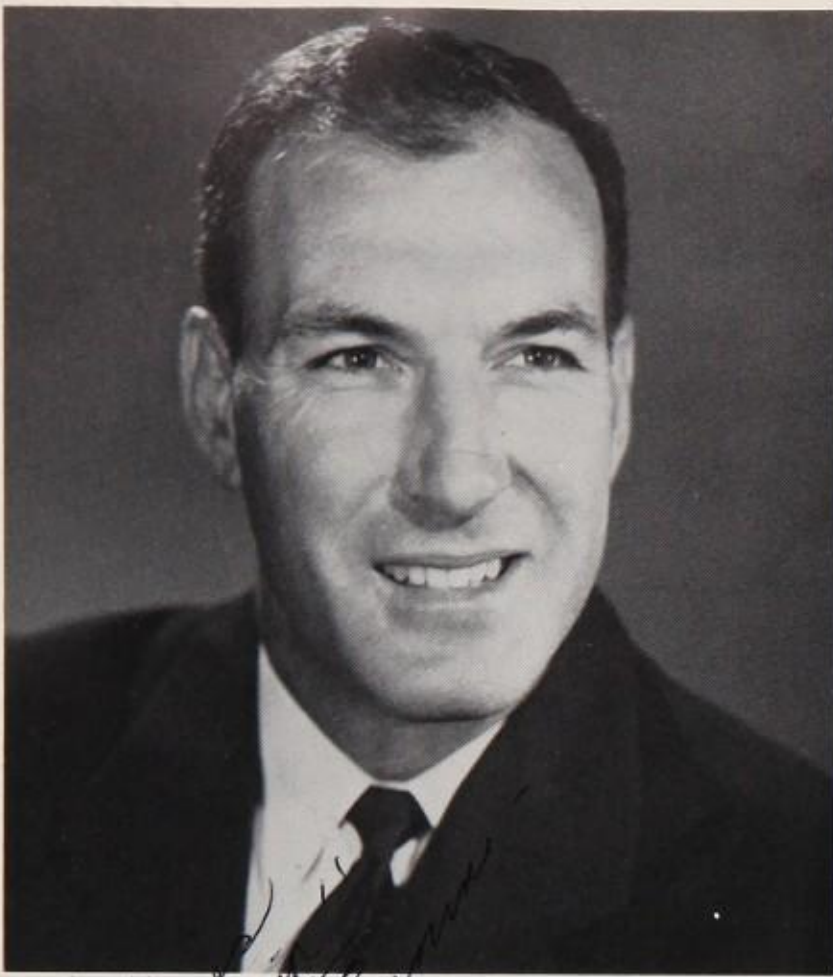

In 1961 he was appointed principal. His efficiency in that capacity came as no real surprise in that besides bringing to the position a broad background, he has from the outset been concerned with making James Lick a better place for all who are associated with the school.

For the ever increasing company of James Lick students who proudly call James Lick "Our school," we dedicate the 1965 Argus to Mr. George C. House.

Good luck

Once again, Mr. Fukushima and the Argus staff have produced a yearbook of sterling quality. It is always a pleasure to view an annual which manifests the high objectives and dignity of its school.

During the 1964-1965 school year, James Lick embarked on its first attempt to modify the weekly schedule of classes. Pupils attended each class four times per week, but one session was for a double or laboratory period. The early success of the new schedule demonstrated the maturity and school spirit of the James Lick student body.

The memories of this school year as well as those of friendships, associations, and events will be rekindled many times as you reminisce through your annual. This has been an outstanding year. It is well recorded.

On behalf of the entire James Lick staff, congratulations and best wishes are extended to the class of 1965.

FRESHMAN YEAR

On September 12, 1961, we started our career as James Lick High School students. Trying to find classes, trying to remember teachers, locker combinations, room numbers and locations was an extremely frustrating and confusing experience. Freshman Daze? The split session that we were on bewildered us even more. We elected Phil Matsumura president of the class, and looked to him to lead us through our first semester.

As the days wore on, we found ourselves wrapped up in our candy sale which aided and abetted our treasury.

Some of us found our place on various committees, athletic teams, and student government. Some of us quickly distinguished ourselves in scholarship.

Soon our Frosh Social was over, and "Shamrock Shindig," the Frosh-Soph hop, was on its way.

By now, we had lost our awe of the size of James Lick High School, and were getting used to the routine of school life and activities.

Looking at sophomores with more than a little envy for a whole semester, we decided that in time we could also be sophomores. As a matter of fact, we did secretly aim a little higher.

As our first year came to a close, we participated in our first Carnival Day, and sponsored the Chamber of Horrors booth.

President of the class in his freshman year, Phil Matsumura gathers his cabinet around him to plan class projects.

We Learn the Ropes

SOPHOMORE TERM

Perhaps our sophomore year was the most outstanding, activity-wise, of the first three terms. Being on double session, and sharing our campus with Overfelt students did not stop us from engaging in club activities and committee work.

Our sophomore trip to San Francisco will not soon be forgotten by those who were on hand to see the Cinerama production of "The Wonderful World of the Brothers Grimm." We also spent the remainder of the afternoon meandering about the famed Golden Gate Park.

Then, in February, the Royals made their Big Move and left us, and we were attending school a full day again. Our first Homecoming Game was played against Overfelt, and our class won the float competition. The theme of the float was "Boil the Royals."

Phil Matsumura was elected president during the second semester, and we found ourselves nearing the end of another year.

The Soph booth on Carnival Day was in the shape of a huge strawberry. We sold strawberry shortcake and added substantially to our treasury.

We ordered our class rings, and the end of another year was in sight.

When June rolled around, we were ready to take our place as new upperclassmen.

Student Government found a new home when it moved from the A-V room into the new building.

Upperclassmen at Last

JUNIOR YEAR

We commenced our junior year full of excitement with the anticipation of being bona fide upperclassmen.

Bryan Lack was our class president this year, and as juniors, we got the ball rolling with our first big event, the junior social.

We had a successful football season, and then were pleasantly surprised when the varsity and B basketball teams won league titles. Names soon to be prominent in athletics were cropping up and becoming familiar.

In October our long-awaited class rings arrived, and in November we had a mighty struggle with the Iowa Tests of Educational Development.

We found it difficult to believe the events in Dallas on November 22, the realization soon struck home, and we joined the Nation in mourning.

A big class meeting was held on January 15 during which our achievements and the work we had yet to do were outlined.

On April 14, under the direction of Linda Meyer and Bev. Nunes, the gymnasium was transformed into a resplendent "Grecian Gardens." That night Nancy Harms was crowned Junior Prom Queen. Priscilla Romer, the previous year's queen, was on hand to place the crown on Nancy's head.

Finding ourselves once more in the Carnival season, we somehow got enough thumbs together to construct our class booth. Pizza sold like hot cakes, and we again managed to add to our class treasury.

Suddenly James Lick seemed to have shrunk. It appeared that we near-seniors would never come into our own until the seniors left.

In June they did leave. We might have looked relieved, but deep inside many of us shed a tear or two at the graduation exercises that night.

Candidates for class office make their pitch class assembly.

The Last Mile

SENIOR YEAR

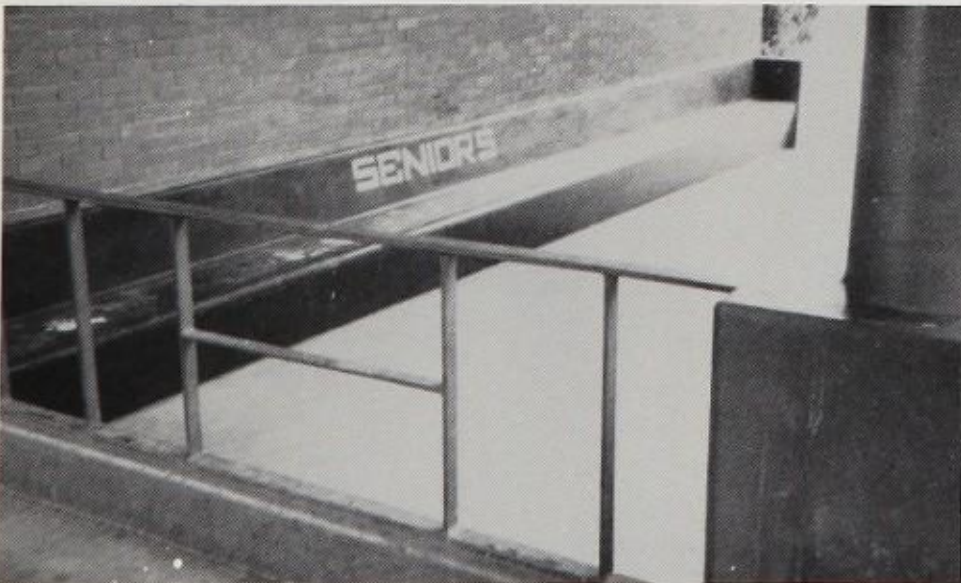

As we returned to school in September for our final year, we thought of the three long years we had anxiously awaited to be seniors.

The bewildered freshmen who entered Lick back in 1961, the sophomores who sold strawberry shortcake on Carnival Day in 1963, and the pizza-sellers of the 1964 Comet Games, were now the Seniors of 1965!

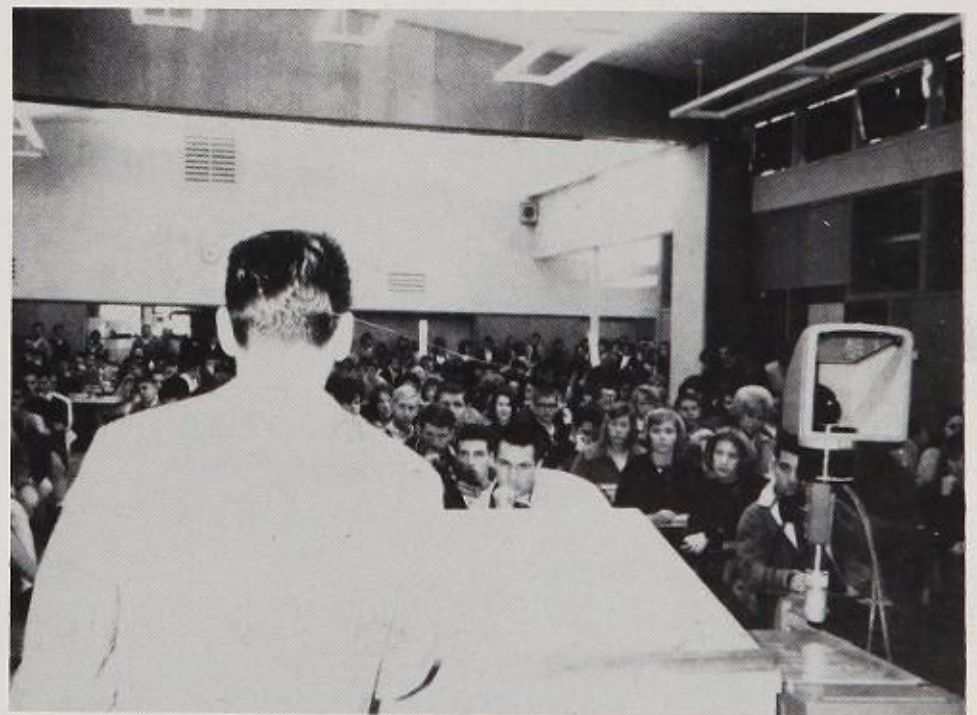

In November the varsity football team won an undisputed title for James Lick. It was also in November that we held our first Senior Social. Before long it was December, and we were getting ready for the annual Icicle Lane dance. A hint of commencement came with the ordering of graduation announcements.

With the school year more than half gone, we busied ourselves with a final pull for better grades and preparation for the Senior Ball—A Touch of Elegance.

At long last the much anticipated night of graduation arrived, and we sang the Alma Mater for the last time as a class group. Graduation over, we contemplated the prospects of forcing the challenges of the adult world.

The Year That Was

JUNIOR HIGHLIGHTS

As upperclassmen, juniors participated in many school and class activities. This year they also took the long and rugged Iowa Tests. A few privileged classmates took the formidable PSAT tests.

On October 27, the class staged successfully its first class social and had a second social which proved to be an even greater success.

This class has been a very spirited group. It has demonstrated its spirit by participating in the candy sale and clothing drive, winning the PTA Membership Drive for the third consecutive year, and showing immense enthusiasm at the rallies.

The attributes of the outstanding junior class were generally recognized by all. Two juniors, Jim Plunkett and Phill Passafuime were among the star performers in athletics. Tony Toste, Cathy Gimelli, Christine Cresswell and Cynthia Embree were top scholars. Suzanne Volz was chosen Homecoming Queen, and Donna Thomas was selected Sweetheart of Cupid Capers Valentine's dance. The climax of the junior social calendar was the Junior Prom, "Moonlight and Shadows."

This year, indeed, the juniors have handled greater responsibilities and have gained valuable experience. They realized they were among the leaders of their school and conducted themselves accordingly. They have demonstrated their leadership in social, academic and athletic endeavors.

Truly, this year's juniors have laid a solid foundation for a bigger and more successful senior year.

Class With Spirit

Again this past year the Class of 1967 proved to be a contributor of spirit to the student body of James Lick High School. Under the leadership of Jack Bariteau, a winner of both semester elections, the sophomore class led the school in almost all activities in the Homecoming festivities, the Soph float "Can the Kittens" took second place and the sophomores have been victorious in the majority of spirit rallies. In probably the most successful of all the rallies, the sophomores captured the title in the Great Pie Eating Contest.

The Class of '67 also participated in the many other school activities available in January. Sophomores went to see cinerama in San Francisco. They then set out to make the Frosh-Soph dance "Midsummer Night's Dream" a success. In addition to this, the sophomores finally picked out their distinctive class rings and successfully participated in the Comet Games.

Academically, the sophomore class was well represented by many scholars who made the C.S.F. honor roll and the principal's "B" honor roll. Just a few of the many notables included Joyce Davis, Bob Nyberg, Sarah Garetz, Carol Heisey, Donna Lickwar, and Astrid Olsson.

Aside from being the pop class in spirit, the sophomores kept pace athletically. In athletics Eddie Hughes was chosen All MHAL and the league's Most Valuable Player in football, while Jack Bariteau and Cene Cirese were All MHAL selections in Frosh-Soph water polo with Cirese being named the league's Most Valuable Player. Other players who distinguished themselves were Forrest Fezler, a mainstay of the F-S football team as well as the golf squad; Don Frease, who showed promise in football, basketball and track; Todd Stout, cross-country and varsity track man.

As the school year came to an end, sophomores looked back upon their past term as their finest ever, and anticipated the coming of a new year and the thought of being upperclassmen.

Freshman Round-Up

The First 175 Days . . .

It is generally accepted that when freshmen first enter the halls of high school, they are bewildered and apprehensive, and that they walk around with their handbooks clutched in their hands, looking for their rooms. This group, however, proved that they were on the ball from the very start. They jumped right into the activities of campus life, netting $434.70 in the candy sale—more than twice as much as the second place class. Again proving they were with it, they won the Homecoming float competition with their float entitled "Baby the Lions."

For the first semester they elected Gary Rose class president. The freshmen held their class social in October, and the Frosh-Soph hop on March 19.

Bill Zavlaris was chosen freshman class president for the second semester.

After a year of tardies, black flags, and vending machines, to say nothing of semester final exams, they will be seasoned veterans of high school life.

Athletics

1964-65 Sports Season in Review

The varsity football team won the Mt. Hamilton Athletic League championship in the final minute and a half of the last game of the season to set the pace for another banner year in Comet sports. The team posted an 8-1 season record, scoring 206 points and holding the opponents to 92 points. Four Comets were named to the All-League team, and one landed a berth on the All-Central Coast selections. Although the squad will be hit by graduation, the quality and quantity of holdovers indicate another fine season next year. The Frosh-Soph football squad lost its bid for a championship in the final game of the season to grab a runner-up spot. Four Frosh-Sophs were named to the All-MHAL team.

The perennially strong varsity water polo team placed third with a 9-3 season log, and the Frosh-Soph poloists swept the league with an unbeaten record. The power-packed Frosh-Sophs will bolster an already strong varsity squad for next year's campaign.

Cross Country men took second place in the MHAL and have a strong nucleus around which to build. Fine prospects move up from the lower divisions.

Wrestlers placed third in league competition, and the return of two-year MHAL 191-lb. champion and NCS Division II champion gives the Comets undisputed superiority in that weight class.

Comet basketballers, defending MHAL co-champions, were hard pressed to retain their laurels. Without a returning regular on the squad, they managed to salvage the season with a fifth place tie. With the exception of three seniors, the entire contingent returns to the cage wars next year. The defending champion B team was also hard hit by weigh-ins, and placed fifth. The C's notched a third place finish, and the D's posted a second place mark.

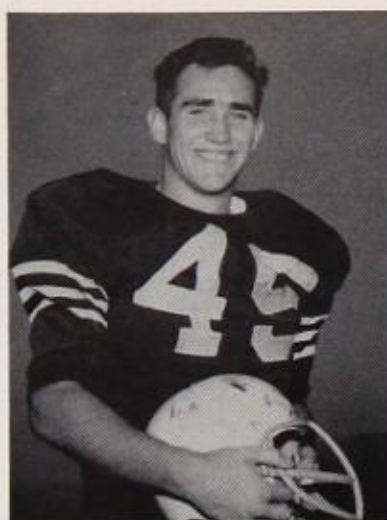

By press time, Lick's topnotch golf team had disposed of all contenders for the title and appeared ready to claim its tenth championship in fifteen years. Comet linksmen have never finished lower than second in the history of the school. The powerful Comet swim team defeated its strongest rival in the first meet of the season and was well on its way toward another swim championship.

Comet teams this year competed in the Mt. Hamilton Athletic League comprised of eight schools. MHAL member schools included San Jose, Lincoln, Willow Glen, Pioneer, Ayer, Hill, Overfelt, and Lick. Next year, Mt. Pleasant and Piedmont Hills will be added to the League.

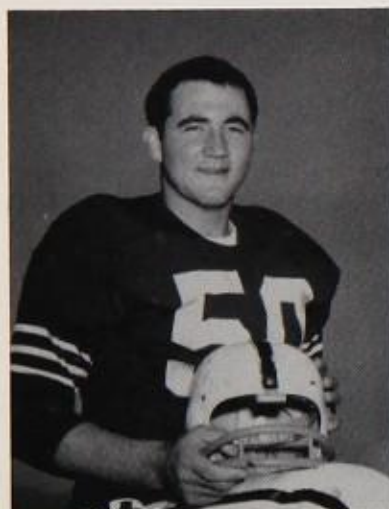

Two years ago, Lick was nosed out by Ayer in the race for the Russell All-Sports trophy by the margin of a tenth of a point. Last year Lincoln nipped the Comets by an even smaller margin. Bridesmaids twice by a microscopic fraction of a point, the Comets hope to nab the coveted award this year.

The 1964 varsity football season can be considered a year of fulfillment for the Comets. Living up to all pre-season ratings, Lick captured the MHAL crown on the last day of the season by defeating Pioneer 19-13.

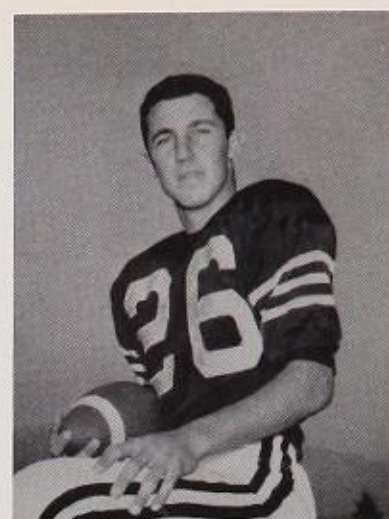

After beating Gilroy and Los Gatos in non-league games, the varsity proceeded to defeat a tough Willow Glen team by a 20-13 count.

The Comets then defeated Ayer and Hill and lost a heart-breaker to Lincoln, 20-14, in the last 5 seconds.

Every game after that was all-important. Surviving a last minute score, the Comets barely beat Overfelt and then whipped San Jose to go into the last game one-half game out of first place. With the stage set, it remained for the Comets to write the final script. This they did with a dramatic flourish.

Despite a fine team effort throughout the year, the James Lick frosh-soph football team dropped its final game to Pioneer to finish in second place.

This was the first year that the league adopted a frosh-soph football program, and the campaign was a successful one for the Comets who ended the season with a record of 5 wins, one loss and a tie.

Outstanding performers during the season were Ed Hughes, Bob Rice, Dale Saso, and Mike Hufft, all of whom were selected to the all-MHAL first team.

After tying their first game with Willow Glen, the Comets won the remainder of their games until the final encounter with Pioneer.

Frosh-Soph coaches Corey and Baker were high in their praise of this year's squad and predicted that many will find places on the varsity squad in the next two seasons.

Varsity Basketball

Opening the season without a returning regular, this year's varsity basketball team ended its season with an overall record of 9-13 and a league mark of 6-8.

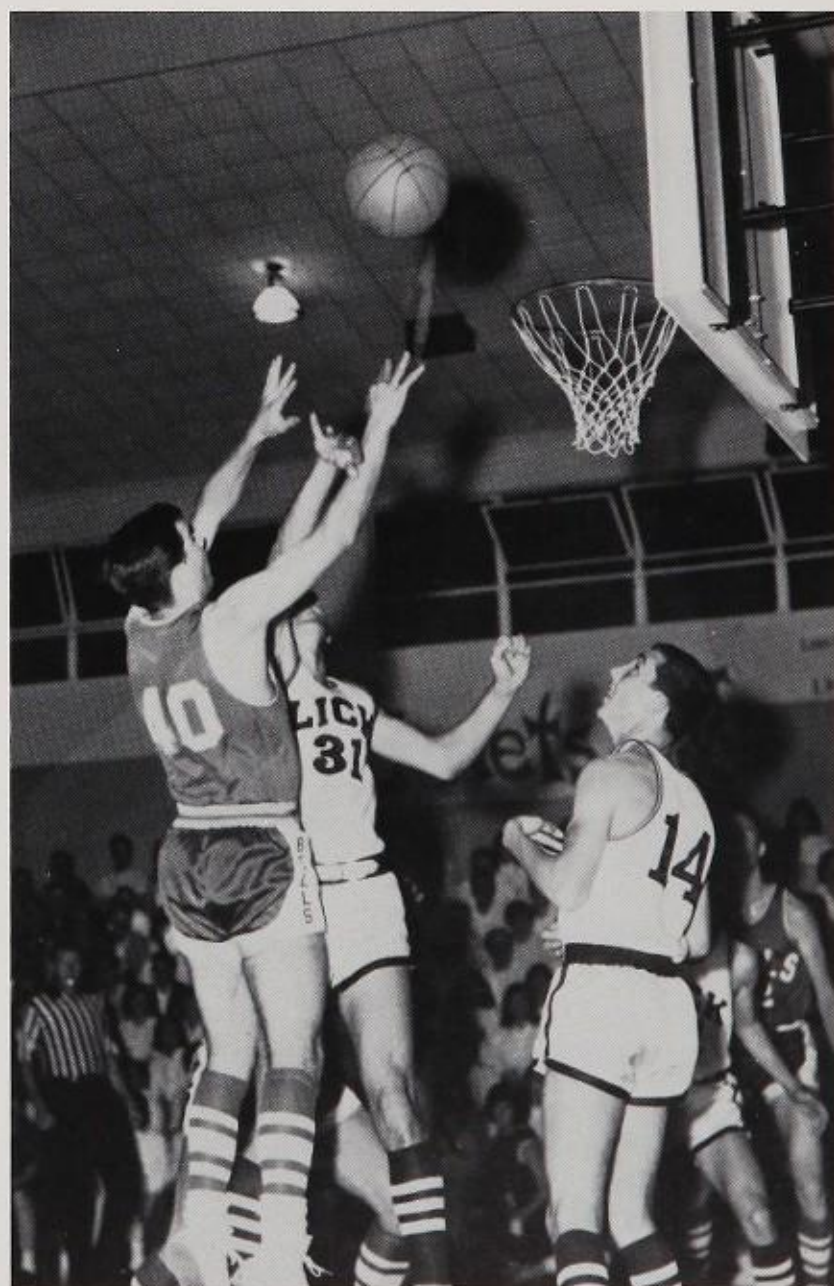

Varsitymen started off the season by dropping a game to the highly rated Sunnyvale Jets, 73-56. The Comets then entered the JLIT and lost their first game to Bellarmine, 50-34. After defeating Campbell, the team lost to Woodside in the consolation finals.

After winning their first three league contests against Willow Glen, Ayer, and Hill, the Comets lost a tough one to Lincoln, 54-42, and then proceeded to lose three out of their next four games to end the first half of the season with a 4-3 mark.

In the second half the Comets won only three out of seven to finish in fifth place with a 6-8 record.

Senior guard Gary Anderson was selected to the All-MHAT second team. He also led the team in scoring with a ten point average.

Center Arnold Entjer contributed a strong rebounding job to the team effort, although this was his first year of competition. Junior starters Phil Passafuime, Dave LaCerde, and Barry Baumgartner, and freshman Jay Corey also performed consistently and are expected to bolster the team's strength next year.

The 1965 varsity golf team is well on its way to the MHAL title. John Maltbie, Forrest Fezler, Frank Polito, Phil Reid and Marty Kenney have led the Comet linksmen to three consecutive wins over their toughest opponents.

Over the last fourteen seasons the team has won nine championships and never finished lower than second.

In mid season matches, sophomore Forrest Fezler caught fire to set a blistering pace of nine under par in three rounds! His best score was a record 66 in a league match against Hill. All three rounds were carded in league play.

Varsity Baseball

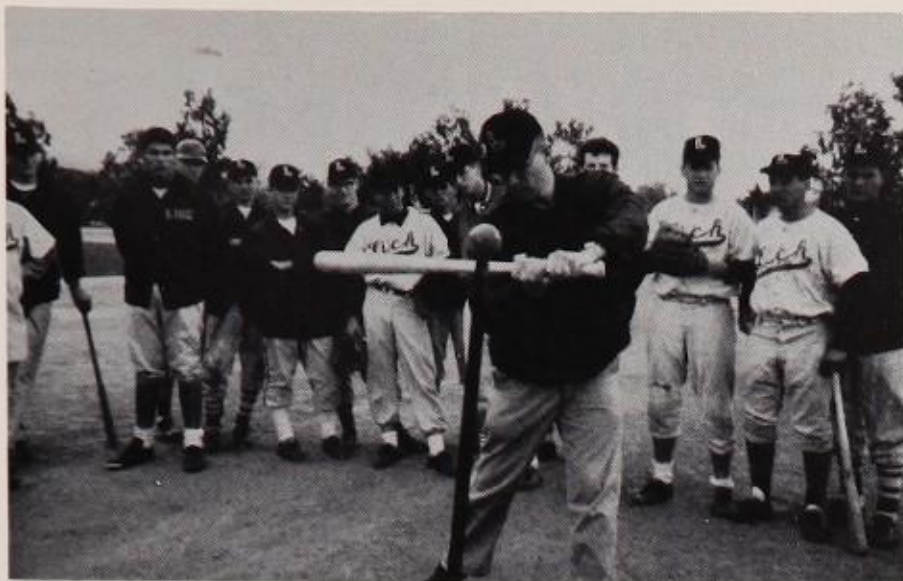

An experienced pitching staff and a tight defense should make the 1965 varsity baseball team a sound outfit.

Two-year veteran Jim Plunkett leads the pitching staff which also boasts juniors Charlie Caraccilo, Steve Almand and sophomore reliever Tom Corchero.

Lou Perske is currently the leading hitter with a .417 average. Steve Henriques and Dave LaCerde are batting over .300.

According to coach Bill Hughes, "Our outfield and pitching is strong, and if our hitting is good, we have a chance to go all the way."

Pre-season picks Hill and Willow Glen will provide the toughest competition for the Comets this season.

Head coach Bill Hughes gives batting instructions to the varsity team.

Frosh-Soph Baseball

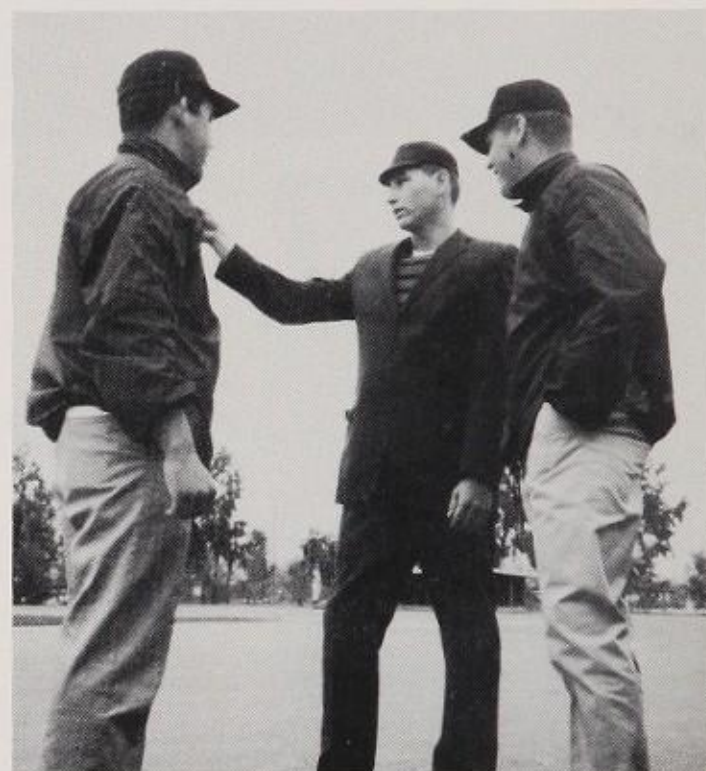

The 1965 frosh-soph baseball team defeated their first league opponent, Hill, 7-3 behind the pitching of Ron Carciere and the defensive work of infielder Rick Villavicencio.

Other leading ballplayers so far have been Randy Fannin, Alan Lewis, Steve Barton and Ron Scoppettone.

Good defense and pitching seem to be the key to the team's success as hitting does not appear to be a strong point.

Other returnees Herman Schranz Gary Regallo and Ron Appleby should bolster the team's attack.

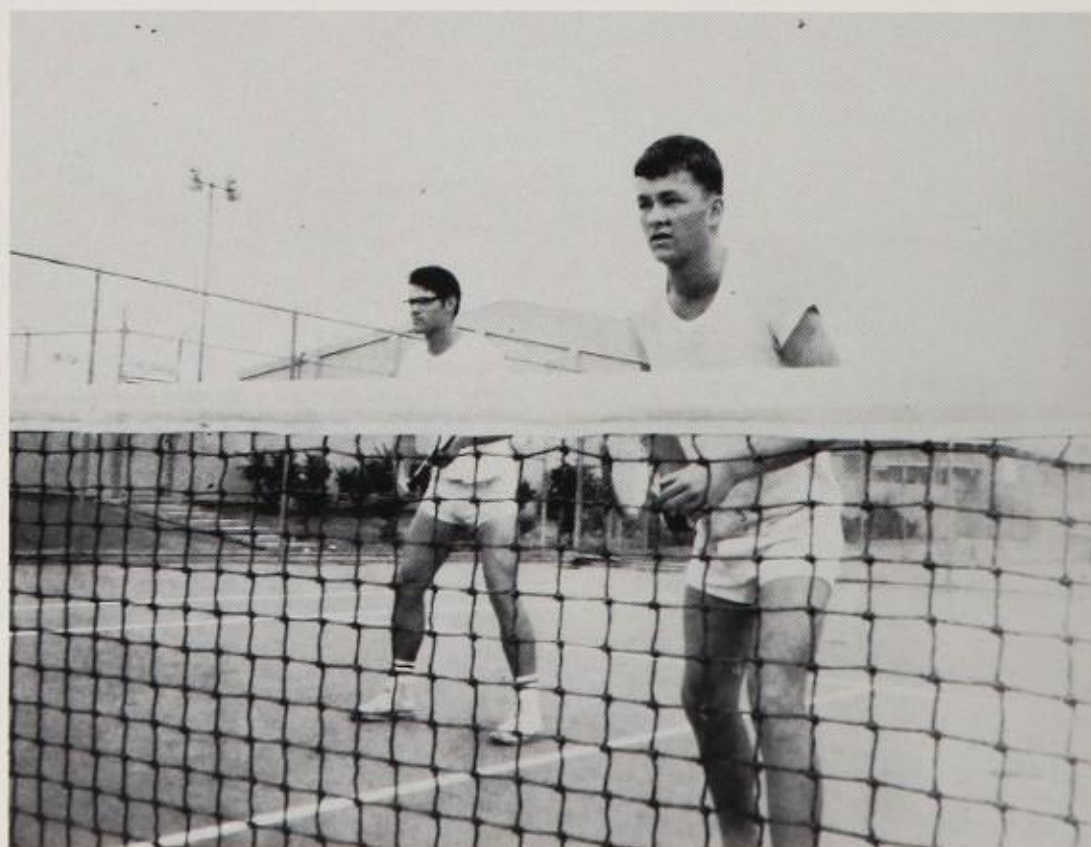

According to coach Bernert, the teams to beat are Lincoln, Willow Glen and Pioneer. Should the Comets get by these foes in early season action, their chances for a possible championship will be good.

TRACK, BASEBALL, SWIMMING, GOLF and TENNIS selections were not available at press time, and will be announced at the Thomas P. Ryan Award Night Program

In the course of the life of a school, loss of personnel through various means becomes a matter of record. Sometimes the loss is sustained through retirement, in other instances through transfer, and sometimes through reassignment. The emergence of two new high schools in the district — Mt. Pleasant and Piedmont Hills — has had an effect on the coaching ranks as well as the teaching force at James Lick High School.

Six coaches will no longer be mentoring the familiar Green and White clad stalwarts when the new term opens next fall. Each has left his imprint on the James Lick athletic program, and we will miss them.

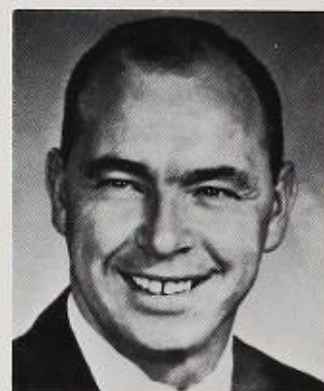

TOM RYAN was practically a part of James Lick even before it was built, and for him, his position at James Lick was more than just a job. Consequently he put in more time and care in carrying out his duties. He originally started as a custodian, trainer and equipment manager while attending college. Credential in hand, he joined the faculty in 1956 to teach PE and coach the golf team. The record of the golf team is one of the success stories in Lick athletics. Ryan leaves Lick to take over duties as Director of Athletics at the new Mt. Pleasant High School.

RUSS PHILLIPS came to James Lick in 1959, and assumed duties as PE instructor, varsity line coach and wrestling headman. Lick was fortunate in securing the services of an experienced coach who had also doubled as a math teacher. Powerful line play was his trademark, and his wrestling teams re-established Lick as a valley wrestling power. His varsity teams have compiled a record of 58 wins against 10 losses. Phillips has left Comet coaching ranks to become an assistant principal at Lick.

NORM FRIBORG was added to the faculty in 1960 to teach special education. He has coached B basketball since that time, and has developed many players for varsity competition. His most successful season was last year when his B's swept through the league to emerge as undefeated champions. Friborg goes to Piedmont Hills where he will teach social studies and coach the Pirate varsity basketball team. He will also handle C basketball.

VARNEY COREY had retired from active coaching when he joined the Lick faculty in 1961, but was pressed into service when it was learned that he had coached football on the junior college and high school levels in Washington and Oregon. Since 1961 he has taught business education in addition to coaching the Comet B football teams. With ten years of basketball coaching under his belt, Corey moves to Mt. Pleasant High School as coach of the Cardinal varsity cage squad.

RAY BERNERT, a 1964 addition to the Lick faculty, had the responsibility of organizing Lick's first tennis team. Battling the odds in securing equipment and players, he has done an admirable job in promoting interest in the sport at James Lick. Having taught English for two years, Bernert moves to Piedmont Hills High School where he will teach social studies and coach the varsity racquet squad.

CHARLES BAKER will also be lost to the Comet coaching staff when the versatile mentor goes to Mt. Pleasant High School as head coach of the varsity football team. Baker came to Lick two years ago and has served as a mathematics instructor, football and track coach.

Another topnotch Observer Staff recorded for posterity the life and times, the accomplishments and efforts of Lick students for the 1964-65 school year.

Phil Reid, Editor-in-Chief, headed a fine crew in addition to laying out the front page and writing his column for the Record.

Jan Paterson, Feature Editor, was joined by Katie Lumbert. Under the Paterson hand, the feature section took on its new look.

Chet Wood and Dave Riker bossed an energetic sports staff that covered everything in sports from football, basketball and soccer to marbles and table tennis.

Four top junior scholars pooled their talents to arrange and gather stories for the campus news section—Cindy Embree, Cathy Gimelli, Karen Kamachi and Cindy DiBona. They covered The Classroom Beat, Inquiring Around, and student government activities.

The all-important job of business manager was ably handled by Linda Meyer who also took care of the exchange to other schools.

Observer Staff members worked and learned, and in the process published a school newspaper that was an accurate mirror of campus life.

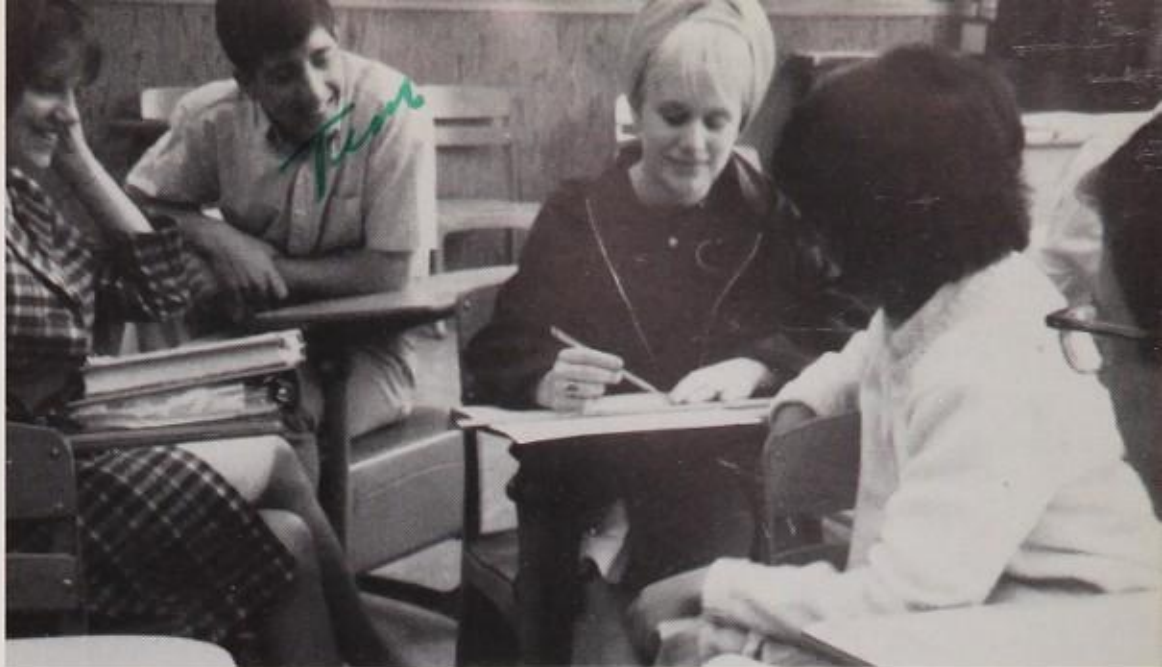

"They were," according to the adviser "among the best in Observer Staff history."

All too frequently a treasured moment fades with the passing of time, and we strive in vain to recapture it.

Argus photographers Nate Smith and Dick Brockington have in the past two years, captured many of the thrills, the heartbreaks, the fine moments, the accomplishments of the great and near great among us, and recorded them for the yearbook.

John Zoria, free lance student photographer, also contributed numerous special occasion shots.

With the publication of the 1965 Argus, James Lick records its fifteenth year of existence, a year which has been exciting and productive for the school and everyone associated with it. And accordingly it has been the aspiration of the members of the yearbook staff, as well as of Mr. Dan Fukushima, advisor, and Mr. Porky Calado, photographer, to mirror the events which have characterized this term and distinguished it from all others.

I wish to extend special thanks to Mr. Fukushima, the Argus staff, and student photographers for their contributions to the compilation of the yearbook.

Above all, I desire to express the hope that we have succeeded, that we have been able to present to you, the students, an accurate record and a lasting remembrance of the past year, one which may be of value both now and in the years to come.
